Kaiser's Hordes Still Being Pressed Back on Picardy and Lys Fronts and Roye Is Still Further Menaced by New Gains Made by French and British.

FRENCH MAKE ADDITIONAL GAINS

LONDON, AUGUST 19.—(Associated Press Cable, 4:45 p. m.)—French troops penetrated into the village of Le Hamelon, the hills west of the Oise and northwest of Ribecourt today, according to advices from the front.

During the fighting today the French were on the aggressive but made some light headway against the determined German resistance between Lassigny and the Oise.

(By The War Editor of The Associated Press)

Launching what may be described as an extensive local attack the French on Sunday evening broke through the German positions along the vital sector connecting the Marne and Picardy battle fields. This attack was over a front of about 10 miles from near Carlepont, east of the Oise, to Fontenoy, on the Aisne, about 6 miles west of Soissons.

It is officially reported that an advance of an average depth of one and one-third miles was made all along the front. A total of 1,700 prisoners is reported from Paris. It is reported from London that an extreme penetration of two miles has been made.

The villages of Nampcel and Nouvron-Vingre have been captured and the French have reached the southern edge of the ravine at Audignicourt. Since the situation along the Aisne and Vesle rivers and in Picardy has seemed to be approaching a deadlock, indicating a return to the old trench warfare of the first two years of the war, an attack in the sector between the Aisne and Oise has been expected. This line is vital to the German positions on each side of it. If it should be broken the whole German defensive system would be thrown out of joint.

While the front over which the assault was launched is short compared with those of the Marne and Picardy drives, the success attained by the French appears to point to a possibility of Marshal Foch breaking the enemy's resistance by a flank attack instead of a direct assault against the strong positions now held by the Germans between Soissons and Rheims and between the Oise and the Aisne.

The region in which the attack was made is quite rough and would seem to be well adapted to defensive warfare.

Along the Picardy front there have been local actions in which 400 prisoners were taken by the French. London reports the French have captured a few villages near Roye, thus increasing the peril of that bastion of the German line west of the Somme.

Further north the British have penetrated the German positions near Arras.

German attacks in the Flanders sector have been repulsed. In the Meriville sector the British have made a new advance probably following up the Germans who have been retiring in this part of the Lys salient for the last week.

HOW THE CZECHO-SLOVAKS ENDEAVORED TO TRAVEL AROUND WORLD TO FIGHT GERMANS

By Associated Press Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, August 19.—Captain Vladimir S. Hurban, an officer in the Czechoslovak army which Japan and the United States have decided to aid in Siberia, has come to Washington from Vladivostok to make a report to Professor Masaryk, commander-in-chief of the Czechoslovak army and president of the National Council. Captain Hurban has given to The Associated Press his story of the experiences of the Czechoslovaks from the time the army of escaped prisoners fought their way eastward from Ukraine.

"The history of the origin of our army, of its operation on the Russian front, and its march around the world to the French front will some day read like a fantastic romance, before which the imagination fades into the prosaic," he said.

"Our army in Russia was organized from Czech and Slovak prisoners of war under almost insurmountable difficulties. We were co-operating with the Russian Army, and since the summer of 1917 were practically the only army on the Russian front, capable of any military action in the proper sense of the word. In July, 1917, during the first revolutionary oftensive under Kerensky it was only our army that really attacked and advanced.

"When the Bolshevik Soviet Government signed the peace treaty at the beginning of March, our army, of about 50,000 men, was in Ukraine, near Kiev. The former Ukrainian Government, to escape the Bolsheviks, threw themselves into the arms of the Germans and called for German help. When the German and Austrian armies began their advance into Ukraine, the position of our army was almost desperate. We were in a state which had concluded peace, into which however, the Germans were advancing and occupying large territories without resistance. The Red Guards of the Soviets did not represent any real military power.

"As we could not hold a front, we began to retreat to the East. Already then in agreement with the Allies, (our army had been proclaimed a part of the Czechoslovak army on the Western Front, and thus allied with the French army) it was decided to transport our army over Siberia and America to France. We began the difficult retreat from Kiev. The Germans in an overwhelming force were trying to prevent our escape.

WILL WIN WAR IN 1919 SAYS MARCH

Eighty American Divisions of 45,000 Men Each Will Turn The Trick in 1919, Says Chief of Staff.

Consider Man Power Bill on Thursday.

2,300,000 Additional Men to Be Inducted Into Service.

Will Take Every Single Man Between 18 and 45 Says March.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, August 19.—Eighty American divisions of 45,000 men each, General March told the House Military Committee today, should be able to bring the war to a successful conclusion in 1919. That is the number the War Department plans to have in France by June 30th, 1919.

Consideration of the new man-power bill extending the draft ages will begin in the Senate next Thursday. With a quorum present today the Senate set aside the agreement for vacation recesses until August 24th, and cleared the way for taking up the draft measure without further delay.

3,012,112 UNDER ARMS

General March read an official statement showing that on August 1st the American army numbered 3,012,112 men. For the present it is planned to send 250,000 men monthly to France, General March stated, adding: "but we hope to increase that in the spring." To put 80 divisions of Americans in France before June of 1919, General March emphatically said:

ALL SINGLE MEN

"We will need every single man in Class One between 18 and 45. We must not delude ourselves with the

About a hundred miles behind us they seized the important railroad junction at Bachmac, which we were obliged to pass in our trains on our retreat to the East.

"In this manner we escaped from Ukraine. Our relations with the Bolsheviks were still good. We refrained from meddling with Russian internal affairs and we tried to come to an agreement with the Bolshevik government with respect to our departure, or passage through Russia. But already, signs were visible that the Bolsheviks—either under German influence or because we then represented the only real power in Russia—would try to put obstacles in our way.

"To prove indisputably our loyalty, we turned over to the Bolsheviks everything, all our arms, with the exception of a few rifles which we kept for our, so to say, personal safety (10 rifles for each 100 men). The equipment we turned over to the Bolsheviks including arms, horses, automobiles, airplanes, etc., was worth more than 1,000,000,000 rubles, and it was legally in our possession, for we took it away from the Germans, to whom it had been abandoned by the

MAKING TOUR

ANOTHER 2, 300,000

In extending the draft ages, Secretary Baker said suspension of academy education is "an unsolved problem" of the situation and that it would be most unfortunate to have all collegiate education stopped. He believed many youths would be left at school, but was against exemption of college students as a class.

General Crowder indicated the program was expected to raise 2,300,000 men by June 30 and it is proposed to call 2,000,000 men by that time.

WIL LEXHAUST CLASS

General Crowder said that by September there would be 216,000 men left in Class One, while the September call planned is for more than that number. Weekly registration of men becoming 21 will furnish 80,000. For October, he said, there will be a deficiency unless the man-power bill provides a new supply.

After the bill is enacted, he said, he would ask the President to order the registration within 10 days to provide for the drawing of numbers as soon as possible. The Committee adjourned until tomorrow to hear labor representatives in protest against the man-power bill.

5,709 MORE MEN CALLED

Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, August 19.—Eighteen states were called upon by Provost Marshal General Crowder today to furnish 5,709 white draft registrants of grammar school education fit for general military service.

The men will entrain September 1. Ohio's quota of 124 men will go to Cincinnati University.

In addition Ohio is directed to furnish 15 white registrants to report on August 26th at Wilbur Wright Field.

NO GENERAL EXEMPTION OF MARRIED

Men Who Do Not Support Families or Who Are Not Engaged in Useful Occupation Will Be Taken.

Special Deferred Class for Youths 18 to 19 Is Favored By Baker.

By Associated Press Dispatch. Washington, August 19.—No general exemption of married men, simply because of their married status, is contemplated by the War Department in preparing for the proposed extension of draft ages, Secretary Baker declared today in a statement before the House Military Committee on the new administration man-power bill.

Mr. Baker said his previous remarks on this subject had been misconstrued and that married men who do not support their families and who are not engaged in useful occupations will continue to be called.

The war secretary, with General March and Provost Marshal General Crowder appeared before the House committee at hearings to reiterate their explanation that immediate enactment of the man-power bill is imperative in order to carry out the enlarged war program.

Leaving an explanation of the man-power situation to General Crowder the Secretary announced that because of objections to calling boys of 18 he had planned to defer their call as long as possible and would not object to placing a provision in the bill making a separate class of men between 18 and 19 years, and for deferring calling them "as far as practical" until after other in Class One had been exhausted.

ONLY 42 MILES TO SERPENT MOUND IN ADAMS COUNTY

To the average person the world famous Serpent Mound in Adams county seems a long way off when as a matter of fact it is only 42 miles from Washington, going by way of Greenfield, New Petersburg, Rainsboro and Marshall.

There are three distinct routes ordinarily used by local citizens who venture the trip, and the shortest and best route is usually passed up for the longer and more difficult ones because they are not aware of the better route.

The great Serpent never appeared to better advantage than at the present time as it stretches its 1300 feet of body along the plateau upon which it was constructed by the mysterious peoples of that bygone age, although the grass covering the big fellow is somewhat brown for lack of rain, giving the great effigy the appearance of a real, huge, brown snake stretched out sunning itself.

People from all over the world have visited the peculiar mound, and Washington and Fayette county folks who have never visited the spot will find it fully worth their while to do so, and will find the following brief directions of use in reaching the mound by the best possible route:

Go to Greenfield. Leave Greenfield over the Petersburg pike. In New Petersburg turn to left and go to Rainsboro. Turn to right in Rainsboro and go one mile to road turning to left at concrete block house, go little over mile and bear to right where road forks. Continue south until you reach another main road and turn to right. Marshall is two mile distant, and upon reaching Marshall, turn to left and continue southward, bearing to right at forks of road some six miles or more south of Marshall. This will lead to Lovett, or Loudner, as it is now called, on the Belfast-Locust Grove road, and turning to the left the entrance to the Serpent Mound is one mile distant.

Return trips may be made either through Hillsboro or by way of Locust Grove, Sinking Springs, and Cynthiana.

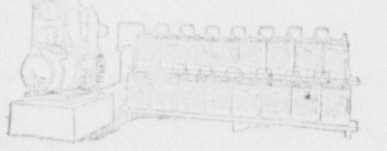

FACING CHARGE OF TAKING RINGS

A. O. Goldsberry, arrested at Washington C. H. for stealing two rings from O. J. Fuchs, local jeweler, was arraigned before the Mayor Friday afternoon.

Goldsberry appeared at the Fuchs store, and looked the rings over, declaring that he would take two of them out to show them to his wife, and would return them within a short time.

Evidently his wife lived out of town, for he never returned. City Detective Frank Hammelback went to

WM. NICHOLS IN TROUBLE AGAIN

William Nichols, filled with Bainbridge booze, was deposited in this city Saturday evening by W. M. Stevens, liveryman of Bainbridge, who was tendered a check on the Fayette County Bank in the sum of $7 as the fee for hauling Nichols to this city by auto.

It did not take the liveryman long to ascertain that the check was not worth the paper upon which it was written, and that he stood a mighty good chance of having made the trip for nothing.

A few minutes later Nichols had been taken in charge by the police on a charge of drunkenness, and Stevens announced that he would later file an affidavit against the man for issuing a worthless check. Meanwhile he was to be held in the county jail.

Nichols is not a new man to the police. He has been arrested upon a number of occasions, and upon one occasion did time for using the name of Jess Judy and issuing bad checks in Chillicothe.

VALUABLE LOTS CHANGE HANDS

Mr. S. E. Shultz, who recently purchased the Junk farm on the Circleville pike, after selling his large farm in Jefferson township to W. S. Draper, has purchased of Mrs. Lizzie Buck the two acres or more on Washington avenue, north side, immediately west of Elm street, and will soon begin the work of grading and improving the tract of land. The transaction was closed through the agency of Chas. Gerstner.

Mr. Shultz recently purchased the Pensyl property adjoining the square of ground formerly owned by Mrs. Buck, and will probably move to this city in the near future.

INFANT DAUGHTER VICTIM OF THE HEAT

Joyce Truitt, aged eleven months, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Truitt (nee Stella Ford) of Columbus, died at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Ford, on Columbus Avenue, Monday morning.

A week ago Mrs. Truitt brought the baby, ill from the intense heat, from Columbus to the home of her parents. In this city, hoping that the change would be of benefit, but the little one steadily grew worse and all medical aid proved unavailing.

Mr. Truitt joined his wife when the baby's condition became critical.

The sympathy of many friends in this city, as well as in Columbus, goes out to the parents and grandparents in their loss.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock in the McNair Memorial church. The burial will be made in the Washington cemetery.

INJUNCTION IS GRANTED IN THE FLUSHING CASE

Judge Clevenger, Who Heard Case of Hillery Against the City Grants Perpetual Injunction as Asked by Plaintiff, Halting Purchase of Street Flusher.

In the case of Thomas Hillery as a taxpayer against the City of Washington, seeking permanent injunction against the purchase of a street flusher on the grounds that no funds for such purchase were in the treasury and no certificate had been furnished by the City Auditor as required by law, Judge Frank M. Clevenger, of Wilmington, who heard the case on June 28th, has handed down a decision in which a permanent injunction is granted the plaintiff as asked for.

The decision, which is very lengthy, goes into the situation somewhat in detail, characterizing the matter as "an interesting situation" in which the fixed charges against the service fund run about $7100 each half year, and the tax duplicate produces only about $5400 per half year for the service fund.

Judge Clevenger dwells at some length on the semi-annual appropriation ordinance, and declares that the funds once appropriated cannot be used to some other purpose where the funds represent part of the fixed charges against that fund, and that the Washington city council has failed to adhere to the law governing the use of the money appropriated in the semi-annual appropriation ordinance.

He also calls attention to the method of letting light and water bills pass unpaid and then by friendly suit, pay judgment by the issuance of bonds, or certificates of indebtedness. He declares this "an open violation of the law whenever it is done."

Judge Clevenger holds that certain borrowing by council probably was regular, but the money was used for other purposes than it should have been. He suggests efforts be made to get "square" once more and then to carefully observe the law thereafter. In closing he declares that the injunction against the purchase of a city flusher must be perpetual, with costs paid by the city.

Hidy & Sanderson represented the plaintiff and Junk & Post represented the City.

The decision, it is understood, will stop the flushing of streets for the present at least.

WRECK ON B. & O. LOCAL GIRLS IN IT

Mr. George Davis, Monday morning received a telegram from his daughter, Miss Jennie Davis, who with Miss Donna Barnett left Sunday for Washington, D. C., stating that there had been a wreck on the B. & O. at "M. K. Junction, West Virginia," and that they were safe.

It is supposed that the train on which they were riding figured in the mishap, details being lacking.

DEMANDED $34,000

MRS. W. A. GAVIN

Mrs. William A. Gavin, famous English golfer and holder of the women's metropolitan golf title, has been requested by the New York District Attorney to turn over the $34,000 she declared she had collected for the "Drake Section Sanitaire" at exhibition golf matches, to the French Ambassador to be used as the donors intended it to be used, namely, for the advancement of the French ambulance service. The "Section" was collecting funds to provide ambulances for the French armies until recently. Mrs. Gavin believes the money should be returned to the individual contributors, who should then be at liberty to make the contributions again.

New York, August 19.—For the proper celebration throughout the United States on September 6, of the 161st anniversary of the birth of Lafayette, the Great French hero and friend of the American colonies, the American Defense Society today issued a call to the people of the United States emphasizing the national debt America owes Lafayette and urging Americans to repay part of this debt by annually honoring his name and memory.

This is also the anniversary of the first battle of the Marne in 1914, and through the co-operation of the two hundred and seventy-six branches of the Society, and of many civic and patriotic organizations who have already volunteered to help in making Lafayette Day a great success it is expected that it will be fittingly observed in every city in the United States.

FIND ANCIENT ART

(Associated Press Correspondence)

Rome, August 10.—Excavators in Cyrene have recently made a number of valuable discoveries of ancient art dating from the Greco-Roman period. The latest include two magnificent statues which were found in Beda—one the likeness of a Roman matron of the second century, and the other a "Winged Victory" which will be placed in the museum of Benghazi. At Cyrene the exploration is particularly active of late, and has brought to light a number of busts and statues. The latest is a temple with a colossal statue of Demeter and a long inscription from the third century B. C.

The New Manager

Time and necessity bring important changes and opportunity observed and acted upon is certain to bring its reward.

With the advancement of Mr. H. C. Estberg from the management of the local gas and electric company to the management of the plant at Shawnee, Oklahoma, comes the advancement of Mr. H. M. Gross to the managerial control of the Washington company.

All business changes bring their sense of personal loss. This one is like all the others in that respect. Mr. Estberg, coming here a total stranger, has made many personal friends who sincerely regret his departure.

These feelings of personal loss too bring with them their compensating changes.

Mr. Gross's advancement to manager of the local utilities company seems to carry with it every guarantee of a successful and satisfactory regime.

We remember "Mose" as a boy, when we, boy like, made our headquarters at the same livery barn, knew all the fine turnouts and kept track of the best horses.

The work of the world drew us into different paths. "Mose," twenty-three years ago, went with the local gas and electric company. Starting at the bottom of the ladder he has discharged the duties of about every position thoroughly, has learned about all there is to learn, made good and reached the top. Schooled in the particular business which he has made his life work under the late Jerome Penn and Mr. G. N. Clapp, born and raised in the community, he should have it about all learned and we believe he has.

We believe he will make a good manager for the company and for the community.

Reprisals

While the American people abhor air raids outside the war zones, while civilization does not countenance the bombing of sections behind the battle zones, yet the raids over Rhinish Prussian cities and towns and over the cities and the towns of other German states farther south and the damage inflicted by allied airmen is meeting with entire approval of the people of the allied nations.

Not because we believe exactly in inflicting that sort of damage as a reprisal, not because we believe that even Germany's barbarous conduct alone would justify it, but because it is the only way the Huns can be made to realize the kind of warfare their war lords are waging, and they are approving and supporting. If the Huns believe in, and insist upon waging a war of frightfulness the only way to convince them of their error is to treat them with the same kind of a war.

If Germany were a sane nation, if Germany had not been inoculated with the war virus and turned loose to run amuck, no such uncivilized warfare would have been inaugurated and no such warfare would need to have been combated and crushed by waging the same kind of a war.

Nothing will bring sanity to the Huns save to excel them in their own terrible warfare.

People everywhere are glad to see these allied raids on the increase. It means that the Hun will soon cry enough, as he has about the use of gas.

In the Air

Although Germany, at the beginning of the world war, was far in advance of any other nation in the construction and the use of airplanes, the flying corps was used as an assistant to the army operations and as a means in raids on the civilian population behind the lines to strike terror to the supporters of the army—the folks at home.

The allies have increased, many fold, their production of airplanes and have progressed very markedly in their operation. Now with the coming of America and her immense squadrons of airplanes and thousands of skilled aviators, the allies have made of the air fighters one of the chief branches of the service.

The portent of the winged menace is another omen of defeat for Germany.

Not only will the observation be searching and accurate, disclosing the enemy plans, but the new DeHavilland bombing machines will be a powerful factor in cutting off the avenues of retreat, destroying ammunition dumps and railway centers.

Arriving "over there" now in large numbers the American planes, in successful raids, have created havoc with the enemy plans and have been a contributing cause to the overwhelming defeats of the last month.

The supremacy of the air fighting seems also to have passed permanently to the allies.

 How each shadow seemed a vagrant butterfly!
 How the violets hidden under leaves awoke our childish wonder,
 When we roamed the woods together
 you and I!

Did you feel the magic stealing,
 Did you hear faint music pealing
 Through the dusk, as twilight creeping
 Swept away the afterglow
 Did you know that elfland, leaping
 From each thicket that seemed sleeping,
 Watched us, as we roamed together?
 Did you know?

Often times they followed after,
 Mocking us with silent laughter;
 Dancing, prancing, sliding, slipping,
 Falling out of line, and tripping,
 Jumping, running, hopping, skipping!
 Half afraid, but growing bolder,
 I would glance across my shoulder—
 Glance back almost furtively—
 Ah, they weren't there to see,
 But I felt them watching me
 From behind each rock and tree
 Ready, when I turned my head,
 To creep into line and follow,
 Over hill and over hollow,
 Anywhere my fancy led.

When we roamed the woods together
 did you know
 That all elfland trooped behind us—silent, slow?
 Did you hear faint music pealing through the dusk as night came stealing,
 When we roamed the woods together
 long ago!

THE BLANCHESTER FAIR IS UNDER WAY

By Associated Press Dispatch.
 Wilmington, O., August 19.—The Clinton county fair, held at Blanchester, begins Tuesday, continuing Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

It will be one of the greatest agricultural fairs ever held in the county.

WADDO DEMANDS MORE COURTESY

Washington, August 19.—(Associated Press Dispatch)—Railroad employees were ordered by Director General McAdoo today to show courtesy in dealing with the public; to cease excusing train delays and other errors with the plea that "Uncle Sam is running the railroad now."
 "The public be damned" policy will in no circumstances be tolerated under government control," said the order addressed to "all employees in the railroad service of the United States."

IMAGINATION IS SOLDIERS' ENEMY

Behind British Lines in France, August 1. — Neither fatigue duty nor working parties are popular with the soldier but they serve a great purpose because in modern war man's greatest enemy is likely to be his own imagination. In the heat of action he has no time for thought. The horrors of war cannot force their way through his preoccupied mind. But later, when the excitement has died away, the reaction sets in, and a realization of the past begins to depress and deaden his vitality. For the memories of a modern battle are more terrible than the actual experience.

The only antidote to this depression lies in action and activity. Action provides distraction for the mind. It is this that the working party supplies, and in spite of the generally abusive terms applied to it by the soldier, it is really doing him a service.

It is the British soldier's historic privilege to complain, or "grouse," as he calls it. But his complaints must not be taken to indicate a state of low morale. Exactly the reverse, for it is an unwritten law in the British army that a man may complain only when things are going well. In danger and adversity there is no complaining, only dogged determination which makes the British soldier such a formidable opponent.

BRITISH RESTORE ANCIENT SCROLLS IN JERUSALEM

(Associated Press Correspondence)
 Jerusalem, August 19.—Restoration of the Parchment Scrolls of the Law to the various synagogues in Tel Aviv and Jaffa was one of the interesting ceremonies which followed the British occupation.

These scrolls of the Law of Moses which are all written by hand and are preserved in magnificently ornamented cases, some of them in solid silver are the most sacred and holy possessions of every Jewish Community. So when Djalal Pasha in his hostility to the Zionists, carried out the tyrannical evacuation of the bulk of the Jewish population of Jaffa in April, 1917, the Jews carried with them these sacred Torah into exile, lest they should fall into the hands of the Turks.

These sacred scrolls had been carefully guarded by the Jews at Petach Tikvah (Mulebbis) and were brought back in solemn procession to Jaffa. A triumphal arch was erected at the northern confines of Tel Aviv, every house was decorated with flowers and bunting and the whole of the Jewish population turned out en masse to meet the return of their sacred possessions. Jews came not merely from Jaffa but also from Richmond-Zion and the other neighboring colonies.

The young men and the girls of the Maccabee Athletic Association dressed in white clothes, with blue sashes and they maintained order and kept a pathway clear for the procession through the crowds. The procession was headed by the Australian Military Band and the ceremony at the Triumphal Arch was attended by officers representing the Military Governor and by Dr. Weizmann and the members and officers of the Zionist Commission.

The Haham Bashi (Chief Rabbi) of Jaffa mounted a small dais near the Triumphal Arch and delivered an eloquent Hebrew address in which he recounted the hardships of the evacuation. He thanked and invoked blessings upon the British Government and the British Army and expressed the hope that success would crown the efforts of the Zionist Commissioners. The Jews desired to regenerate and build up Palestine, not merely for their own benefit, but for that of all its inhabitants whose friendship and help he invited. The re-establishment of the Jewish people in their ancient home in Palestine, he said, would be for the good of all humanity.

Aviation School to Close.
 Columbus, Aug. 19.—The aviation school at Ohio State university will be closed Aug. 31. Advances from Washington said the signal corps is planning to install a radio school in the space to be vacated. Reduction of overhead expenses is given by Washington as the sole reason for closing. The work done here can be absorbed by other schools with a material saving of money.

How the Czecho-Slovaks Endeavored to Travel

fleeing Bolsheviks. This transfer of the equipment was of course preceded by an agreement made between us and the Moscow government, by which we were guaranteed unimpeded passage through Siberia, to which the government pledged to give its unconditional support.

Under such circumstances we began our pilgrimage East. I was in the first train, (there were then eighty trains of us) which was to prepare the way. We were determined to leave Russia without a conflict. Notwithstanding the fact that we kept our word, that we surrendered all arms with the exception of the few necessary, our progress was hindered and unending negotiations had to be repeated in every seat of a local Soviet. We were threatened by machine guns, by cannon, but we patiently stood it all, although the Bolshevik Red Guard could have been disbanded by a few of our volunteers. After 57 days of such tiresome travel our first train arrived in Vladivostok where we were enthusiastically received by the Allied units stationed there.

"In Siberia there are today some hundred thousand German and Magyar prisoners, a great number of whom are armed. It is these men who offer considerable resistance to our army—the Russian-Bolsheviks surrender after the first shot.

"The Bolsheviks gave a sufficient proof of the fact that they are incapable of rule. The number of their fighting supporters is very indefinite. They consist chiefly of hungry masses, loath to work, who are getting 30 to 40 rubles a day in the Red Guard. They have no workers among them. A great number of the Bolshevik officials steal just like the officials of the Czar's regime. Industry, commerce, transportation—everything is at a standstill, and there is nothing to eat. That spells failure of the Bolshevik Government; the Bolsheviks are now doing everything to maintain their power. They obey the Germans and Austrians to keep themselves in power. The Germans, however, do not want a consolidation of Russia.

"What will happen in the future, I am unable to tell. The fact is, Russia is ill, today powerless. If left to her fate, the Germans will obtain full control of her. But the consolidation of Russia is possible. That depends entirely on the good will of the Allies: Russia needs effective, firm, friendly help, for today she is, herself, completely helpless. Russia needs order, which today the Russians are incapable of upholding. The Russians are exhausted, they now have lost faith in themselves, and they need rest to recover. The majority of them are excited people who therefore cannot organize.

"The Allies knowing the psychology of Russia of today, and knowing the real strength of Russia, will extend their help in the proper manner. I think that our army can be of great assistance in this task; all of our boys have learned Russian in the four years of war, and know how to treat the people. They know the Russian people and Russian situation, and they desire only the good of Russia. It was the Czecho-Slovaks, who were always accused of exaggerated Russophobia by the Germans and Magyars and it is the irony of fate that we had to suffer so much in Russia. We hope and desire that our sacrifices be not offered in vain."

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Judy delightfully entertained at their country home south of town near Leesburg, a surprise party in honor of the seventeenth birthday of their son, William Alford. The dining room was beautifully decorated in patriotic colors. The floral decorations for the table were carnation and gladioli. Japanese lanterns decorated the front lawn, where twenty-eight young people gathered for a jolly time with the young host.

The evening was spent in games and music. The guests were served with ice cream, cake, and candy. At the close of the evening a guessing contest was held. First prize winner being Miss Mabel Butz; booby prize, Miss Flossie Marshall. After the awards the large birthday cake was cut and served.

Mrs. Powell DeWitt assisted Mrs. Judy in the arrangements of the evening.

The guests were the Misses Marie Loughner, Jessie Coffey, Lulu Page, Marie Cummings, Ariana Roush, Mary Roush, Ethel Kimmey, Edith Kimmey of Washington C. H., Dorothy Garrison, Bonnie Judy of Bloomingburg, Flossie Marshall, Mable Butts, Leonta Burnett, Nancy Carson, of Leesburg, Beatrice Maddux, Washington, Bernice Judy; Messrs. Everett Page, Forest Beck of Washington C. H., John Loughner, Ralph Roush, Earl Smith, Rae Cummings, Clarence Taylor, Washington C. H., Marion Marshall, Howard Garrison, Alford, Harold Parcel, John Crumrine Stanley Mark from Washington C. H., Ohio.

While no formal invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Margaret Hughey Mark and Private Ralph Curtis Mayer, which takes place at Grace M. E. Church Tuesday afternoon at half past four o'clock, it is tacitly understood that friends of the young couple, of whom they are legion, will be welcomed at the ceremony.

The charming young hostess wore a dainty gown of white embroidered crepe.

Miss Donovan was lovely in a modish gown of pink georgette.

An extremely pretty bridal shower was given by Miss Emily Palmer for Mrs. Carl Beck (nee Marguerite Wilson) Friday evening.

It was an entire surprise to the pretty young bride, who found ten girls of a group of intimates showering her with good wishes and handsome gifts, chiefly cut glass and silver.

The home was embowered in quantities of golden glow and a delicious collation was served.

Miss Palmer was wearing a most becoming gown of pink georgette and the bride was fair and winsome in pink organdie.

The wedding of Miss Evelyn Marcelite Mathew, elder daughter of Mrs. Bertha Mathew, 62 West Tenth avenue, to Mr. Ivan M. Tull, second son of Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Tull, of Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, occurred Friday afternoon, at the home of the bride's mother. The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride.

groom, according to the Methodist ritual, the couple plighting their troth at an altar made of ferns, palms and gladioli, draped with the American flag. A soprano solo was given by Miss Crowley, with piano accompaniment by Miss Helen Mullen of Marysville, who also played the wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. Tull left for Cincinnati in the evening, and will remain there until the bridegroom's furlough expires. Mr. Tull is a member of the military band of the 314th Heavy Field Artillery, stationed at Camp Jackson, South Carolina. The bride has been employed as a teacher in the Columbus schools. — Ohio State Journal.

The bridegroom is a cousin of Mrs. Paul Palmer, of this city, and has a number of relatives and friends in this city, who will learn with interest of his marriage.

Wedding invitations must be engraved on a single instead of a double sheet of paper and enclosed in one instead of two envelopes, according to a ruling by the pulp and paper section of the War Industries Board.

Only eight sizes, instead of ninety or more are to be made. The shades of tinted stationery also are to be reduced in number from thirty-five to five, including white. Fancy boxes involving a wasteful use of material, are to be eliminated and correspondence cards held to a uniform size.

"The Darling of the Screen" who has created an enviable reputation in the photoplay field, comes to the Palace in the extraordinary play

The Lust of the Ages

Written by Aaron Hoffman, the well-known dramatist. Beginning with the home life of a well-bred young lady, whose father is a slave to the greed for wealth, the production portrays the results that would follow were men to ever seek to acquire a monopoly of gold. This young lady receives the literary prize for writing an essay dealing with the subject, and picturizing her book the production carries one along through the various periods of the world's history, showing the devastation that follows conquest. Wonderful light effects, new scenic locations, tremendous sets and scenes employing thousands of extras, makes "The Lust of the Ages" one worthy to see.

JUST FIGHTERS SO THEY DESERT

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Fort Bliss, Texas, August 19.—Pat Kern, late private in the Eighth Cavalry, is a soldier of fortune. The urge of excitement drives him to where fighting is in progress. While garrisoned here with his troop Kern became an expert machine gunner. Ordered to the Big Bend district of Texas, routine drills grew irksome, so he and his "bunkie" deserted—went absent they say in the army.

Across from Presidio was a Mexican federal garrison at Ojinaga being besieged by Villa's forces. Kern and his comrade were placed in charge of the two broken machine guns. They dismantled these, reassembled them and made one good, working machine gun of the parts. With this they moved down Villa's men until the federales evacuated the town leaving the two Americans still manning the machine gun.

They escaped, recrossed the border and surrendered to the commanding officer at Presidio. While serving a term in the prison stockade here on the charge of desertion, Kern escaped, went to Mexico and was last seen going south on a freight train with France and the war as his objective.

REPORT BILL THIS WEEK

(American Press)

Washington, Aug. 19.—The revenue bill will probably be introduced in the house this week, according to Chairman Kitchin of the ways and means committee, to be taken up for consideration a week from today. The bill, Mr. Kitchin said, will raise a total of $8,000,000,000 for the expenses of the government in the present fiscal year.

Changing conditions may affect the amount of revenue to be obtained. The committee is watching the outcome of the effort to pass a national war-time prohibition measure, which the senate is to take up Aug. 24. If a prohibition measure is enacted, revenues to be obtained under the bill will be decreased considerably.

The new tax on liquors may not be announced until the bill is reported to the house, but it is understood to provide a substantial increase on whisky and other liquors and soft drinks, a total revenue of $1,000,000,000 or more. The liquor tax rates are being withheld from publication to guard against withdrawals of whisky from bond. The committee finally approved the tobacco schedule unchanged from rates heretofore announced.

In the 10 per cent tax of articles deemed luxuries above a certain price it made the tax apply to women's waists in excess of $15, instead of $10, as previously agreed to, and to women's hats at $15, instead of $25. Motor boats and canoes were added to the 10 per cent tax on yachts and pleasure boats, but exempted motor boats and canoes costing $20 or less, the exemption being to protect home-built craft.

The three day vacation recess agreement of the house expired today, and while the senate's arrangement runs until Aug. 26, leaders hope to get down to work Thursday on the man power bill extending the draft age limits to 18 and 45 years.

With the national war prohibition measure having the right of way in the senate Thursday under an agreement previously made, the man power measure could be considered only during the early part of each day unless, as is not improbable, prohibition advocates should consent to temporarily side track their measure until the man power bill is passed. Senator Chamberlain is hopeful that, despite uncertainties of the situation, the bill may be passed late this week or early next week.

MORE DELINQUENTS AMONG COLORED MEN

Of a dozen colored men who were to be inducted into military service and entrain on the 6:55 train Saturday evening for Camp Sherman, only six of them reported on time, and only one has reported since that time, the others now being classed as delinquents and will be dealt with accordingly.

Shedrick Bailey, who was among the delinquents, reported for duty on Monday morning, and was entrained for Camp Sherman.

Harry Hutson, Stephen Randall Bergen, Bennet Turner, Herman Jones and James Gillis were the other delinquents, and have been sent for, Gillis being the only exception, as he is doing time in the Dayton work house on a bootlegging charge from Chillicothe. He will remain in the works more than one year.

SMASHED SWIM RECORD

DUKE KAHANAMOKU

Duke Kahanamoku, the famous swimmer of Honolulu, established a new world's record for 125 yards in the Brighton Beach, New York, pool. The Duke traveled over the distance in the remarkably fast time of one minute and 12 4-5 seconds. The old mark was 1 minute 15 1-2 seconds. The photo is one of the latest taken of the Hawaiian star, who just previous to the races was cleared of the charge of violating the rules of the A. A. U.

MORAL COLLAPSE OF HUN EMPIRE CAUSING ALARM

(Associated Press Correspondence)

Amsterdam, August 18.—The moral deterioration of the German nation in consequence of wartime trials is greatly troubling clear-minded observers of the Fatherland. The Lutheran Synod of Berlin the other day called a special meeting to discuss how to deal with the dissolute ways of the thousands of young munition workers, male and female, who habitually squander their high wages in riotous living and immorality. It was agreed that most of the youth of the country seemed to be entirely beyond control.

Much has already been written about the unsafety of the public streets, and the general callous indifference to the sufferings of others. This seems to apply to the whole of Germany.

"Every man's hand seems to be against his neighbor," the Cologne Gazette despairingly exclaims, and it devotes a whole article to the intense if latent anger of the populace at the extortions to which it is subjected by the unscrupulous methods of tradesmen, who in their turn are made the victims of deficient government control and the usurious practices of producers.

Popular discontent is fanned by announcements of extravagant profits such as those made by a meat firm which supplies the army. It operated with a capital of a million marks and in one year netted a profit of 722,638 marks.

Sarcastic comment abounds in respect of the newly rich who flaunt their recently acquired wealth in the faces of their less favored fellow citizens. The vulgarian who at a restaurant calls for "three times a portion of whatever is most expensive" is a standing type.

Another feature is the phenomenal demand for real estate by war profiteers whose aim is to become "lord of manor." The German Tageszeitung the other day contained no fewer than 25 advertisements for country estates wanted at once, from 1,000 to 2,500 acres, price no object, although land has risen to double, and some times treble, the value of pre-war times.

All these things serve to embitter the helpless poorer classes to a degree the danger of which has not escaped the attention of the powers that be, as witness recent arrangements made at Munster, Westphalia, where the service of the clergy has been enlisted by the officials war food department to keeping down the growing popular discontent over the food difficulties.

Even the Rhenish Westphalian Gazette, which gives publicity to this interesting piece of news, expresses the fear that the last few months preceding the harvest will be a exceedingly trying time, and for this reason the war food department wishes to remain in constant touch with the minor clergy, so as to have the benefit of their observations among the people.

With reference to this, the socialistic Vorwaerts prophetically exclaims "after the war there will be being held. In these meetings are planned the revolutionary movements, schemes devised for getting contraband ammunition into Mexico and of ten recruiting among the floating Mexican border population is carried on by these juntas.

At present a well organized Villa junta is in operation here. It is in charge of a young Mexican revolutionist who has the usual retinue of clerks, look-outs to watch for secret service men, military advisers and American legal advisers. Behind closed doors the revolutionists whisper plans for aiding Villa in the field, for buying ammunition and machine guns and for spreading the Villa propaganda in American papers. These agents have plenty of money and live well while on the border. Several lawyers on the border have grown wealthy acting as legal advisers to these juntas while ammunition dealers and uniform supply houses reaped a rich harvest until the embargo against all military elements was ordered from Washington.

The activities of these revolutionary agents are closely watched by government agents but, because of their clever advisers and their care in avoiding any violations of the neutrality laws, it is difficult to obtain evidence upon which to convict these revolutionists.

MEXICAN PLOTTERS BUSY ON BORDER

By Associated Press Dispatch.

El Paso, Texas, August 19.—Mexican revolutionary juntas have been in existence in El Paso since the first one here was organized for Francisco I. Madero in 1911 in a back room of a cheap hotel in the Mexican quarter. Orozco, Huerta, Villa and Felix Diaz have all had their juntas here at different times since the revolutions started. A second class rooming house or hotel is always selected for these meetings of revolutionary followers in order to avoid suspicion and to escape secret service agents. Beds are drafted into service as chairs and the Mexicans squat around the walls while the junta meetings are being held. In these meetings are planned the revolutionary movements, schemes devised for getting contraband ammunition into Mexico and of ten recruiting among the floating Mexican border population is carried on by these juntas.

At present a well organized Villa junta is in operation here. It is in charge of a young Mexican revolutionist who has the usual retinue of clerks, look-outs to watch for secret service men, military advisers and American legal advisers. Behind closed doors the revolutionists whisper plans for aiding Villa in the field, for buying ammunition and machine guns and for spreading the Villa propaganda in American papers. The activities of these revolutionary agents are closely watched by government agents but, because of their clever advisers and their care in avoiding any violations of the neutrality laws, it is difficult to obtain evidence upon which to convict these revolutionists.

"Y" BEAUTY SPOT
"The English Y" in Genoa," writes Miss Virginia Lee, the American writer in a recent issue of the British Red Triangle, "is one of the loveliest spots of the city. It is like a beautiful opera stage setting. A tea garden under tall trees, terraces set with pretty tables, the canteen with its gay striped awnings and the two big rooms overlooking the port couldn't be lovelier if they were painted stage scenery. The canteen service is voluntary, and the two beautiful Englishwomen, mother and daughter, whom I saw in charge one afternoon completed the simile."

TWO BANNER YIELDS

Among late reports of exceptionally large wheat yields, Chas. Lowe and Mack Smith, of the Greenfield pike, threshed 27½ bushels per acre on 290 acres. This is one of the largest yields of the season on an extensive acreage.

Charles Seiborn, of the Snowhill pike, had 25 acres that averaged 35 bushels per acre.

THREE DRIVES

(American Press)

Washington, Aug. 19.—Plans of the treasury provide for three big liberty loans within the next year, each to raise $5,000,000,000 or more, it was learned. The first will be from Sept. 28 to Oct. 15, as has been announced, the following is planned for January or February and the third in May or June. This program will be necessary, it is explained, to provide the $15,000,000,000 which officials estimate will be required to finance war operations during the year, in addition to the $8,000,000,000 which may be provided by the new revenue bill now being drafted.

If government expenses and loans to allies fall much below the $24,000,000,000 estimate, the government is expected to try to combine two loans into one big campaign for the largest credit ever sought by any nation. Such a campaign would be set for some time in the late winter.

BOMB CITIES

(American Press)

Paris, Aug. 19.—German bombing squadrons have been very active in bombing towns behind the front during the past two days. There were numerous raids on Rouen, where six people were killed and five wounded. The German goths flew as far as Havre, where no one was killed and no damage done. Two consecutive raids on Vernon caused only material damage. Several warnings were given at Dunkirk and Calais during the period. At Calais some 50 heavy bombs were dropped on Friday night.

JOHN McCORMACK REAL WAR WORKER

In a current number of one of the leading magazines of the day, there is an account of the splendid work that John McCormack, noted tenor, is doing for America through the God-given medium of his marvelous voice. For those who have not read that article, it may be of interest to know how this famous singer has turned his talent into funds for the help of this country. There can be no question concerning his patriotism, when we read that he has personally raised over $100,000 for the Red Cross, over $50,000 for the K. of C. War Camp Fund, and many millions in the sale of Liberty Bonds. In order to do this Mr. McCormack has canceled personal concert engagements and given a series of concerts, the gross receipts of which have been donated to the Red Cross and other institutions. Moreover he has paid all expenses of these concert tours. The receipts of a single concert in San Francisco were $25,147.

He has raised over $7,000 for stricken French soldiers and $50,000 for the K. of C. War Camp Fund. When New York's Fighting 69th were called to the colors, McCormack sang in Carnegie Hall and raised at that one concert $14,000 for the dependent families of those men. In an interview with President Wilson, he offered to go to France and cheer the boys there with songs and stories of home, but he was dissuaded from going because he is accomplishing so much in this country and seems best fitted to "keep the home fires burning."—Exchange.

JAPAN HAS SERIOUS RIOT

(American Press)
London, Aug. 19.—Troops have been called out in nearly every important city in Japan, according to dispatches from Tokyo. Even the naval station at Yokohama is affected by the unrest. Two thousand workmen are rioting in conjunction with the populace.
At Nagoya, noted for its manufacture of porcelain, a mob estimated to aggregate 30,000 persons rioted. At several places the soldiers fired on the disturbers. At Kobe the soldiers and police were obliged to use sabres and bayonets against the strikers.

The rioters are proving the worst outbreak against the constituted authority witnessed in many years. They are resorting to acts of extreme violence, such as the use of dynamite and incendiarism.

There was serious rioting in Tokyo. Mobs attacked and damaged property in the business and theater districts. The rioters also entered and pillaged houses in Asakusa, the great recreation resort of the middle and lower classes. A number of the disturbers were wounded by the police.

The newspaper comment here seems to indicate that the food riots throughout the country are an expression of growing social unrest among the people and to reflect the belief that the empire is advancing toward a social crisis. The riots are spreading, involving alike the poor and the middle classes, who feel impelled to protest against economic conditions.

It is remarked that the uprisings are often anti-capitalistic in nature, the mob attacking and destroying the property of the wealthy and violent anger at the evidence of luxury. Japanese girls have been stoned as they have driven through the streets in automobiles and the houses of the rich have been assailed.

While the war has created millions of new jobs and increased the luxuries of the rich, it has also increased the misery of the poor because of inflation. Wages being paid in paper money, especially, are lamed by the inflation of the price of goods, which are the first of the kind to appear in Japan since the war was opened to Western civilization.

In Tokyo a crowd of 5,000, which was prevented from congregating in the park, marched to the Ginza, the great retail thoroughfare of the city, where they stoned and damaged 200 stores and restaurants, raided rice depots and unsuccessfully attacked the industry of the interior. Ninety streets were made and 10 policemen were injured. Tokyo is occupied by heavy detachments of police and infantry.

Mobs pillaged grocery and dry goods stores and food depots and set fire to theaters and other buildings. The military forces called out to maintain order were attacked. The street railways have suspended operations at night owing to the confusion in the city and the governor has forbidden the people to go out upon the streets after dark.

It is stated that at Maizuru, where 2,000 workmen from the naval arsenal joined the populace in racking the rice stores, many persons were injured in collision with the police.

OF TENDER YEARS BUT BAD BURGLAR ROBS MANY HOMES

Jimmie (Buck) Davis, aged about 12 years, colored, was taken in charge by Chief Moore, Sunday, while endeavoring to burglarize the Bentz Grocery in East Point street, and in addition to admitting the crime, told of a number of other similar crimes committed during the past 30 days.

Buck admitted that he had been in the Lancaster Industrial School—a place of which the authorities were well aware—and that during the last 30 days he had committed burglary at least a half dozen times, having stolen small bank from a Rawlings street home some 30 days ago; entered the Vm. Sheets residence on Broadway; the C. W. Lewis home, and a house on Columbus avenue.

Buck was turned over to Juvenile Court Judge Allen who decided that as Boys' Industrial School would gain the proper place for him, and ordered him taken to that institution or an indefinite period.

The youngster is one of the worst, youthful burglars operating in this city in recent years, according to the authorities, and it is believed that the great many petty offenses reported to the police of late are traceable to him, and that much of this work will now cease.

BANNER BABY SAVING MONTH

(American Press)

Columbus, Aug. 19.—Ohio's best baby saving record to date was marked up in June, the state department of health announces. In that month, the third of the children's year, 802 children under 5 years of age died in the state. This total is 477 less than the average monthly death total of 1,279 in 1916, the year upon which quotas for baby saving are based. The June saving exceeds by 101 the quota assigned as the state's monthly saving.

The department cautioned against too great self-satisfaction over this result, pointing out that June baby deaths are normally the lowest of the year, inasmuch as pneumonia prevalence has dropped off and the summer rise in mortality, due to intestinal disorders, has not yet started.

The total saving for the first three months of children's year—April, May and June—is 664, or 166 more than half the three months' quota of 1,128. Sixty-five counties saved their quotas in June.

Previous warnings of the menace of whooping cough to Ohio children this summer were repeated by the state department of health, after tallying of cases reported during July. July case reports total 1,512. There were 1,502 reported cases in June, and late reports are expected to bring the July total close to this figure. The total of reported cases for the first seven months of the year is slightly under 5,500. Deaths for the same period have totaled 450. Ninety-five per cent of the deaths are of babies under 1 year old.

TRIED TO KILL

PET SQUIRREL

East Temple street residents Monday morning rescued one of the pet squirrels which makes its home in the trees in this city, after it had been chased by some persons who were endeavoring to kill it.

The attention of the proper authorities was called to the effort made to kill the little animal, and announcement was made that a fine of $50 was the penalty for such an offense, and that the law would be strictly enforced if one of the squirrels is disturbed.

ORDER YOUR FERTILIZERS NOW

The Office of Information, United States Department of Agriculture, has just issued the following announcement:

"Farmers are urged by the United States Department of Agriculture to place orders at once for fertilizer needed for fall wheat. It is very important, according to W. W. Mein, Assistant of the Secretary of Agriculture in charge of the licensing of fertilizer concerns under the Food Control Act, that dealers and manufacturers know farmers' needs as soon as possible, so that orders can be combined and car space used to the best advantage. Transportation difficulties require that freight cars be loaded to their rated capacity. Delay in ordering, it is said, may result in a repetition of last spring's experience when many farmers failed to receive their mix of fertilizer and acid phosphate until after planting time."

Orders can be filled in the "ACORN" or other leading brands of Williams & Clark's Fertilizers and delivered at your nearest station if you
